

Networking for Success

Networking is one of the most important components of your job search and career progression.

In this session, guest speaker Robert Salmond will be talking about the importance of public speaking, and how to effectively use your network to advance in your career.

In this session we will address the following:

- Taking a personal inventory of your skill set
- Valuable skills you need to add to your inventory
- How to implement effective networking techniques
- How to market yourself and your business

Space is limited.
